BACKGROUND

Considered as the strongest typhoon to hit the Philippines in many years, Super Typhoon Haiyan (locally known as Yolanda) made six landfalls on 7 November affecting more than 9.6 million people. As of 11 November, a total of 128,303 families (615,774 persons) have been displaced. Power and communication lines were down in majority of the areas in Visayas. Strong winds resulted to storm surge resulting to flooding in coastal communities. On 8 November, a total of 22 areas were placed under Signal No. 4 while 12 areas were placed under Signal No. 3. Some local government units have declared a state of calamity.

GENERAL CURRENT SITUATION

- The national government has declared a State of National Calamity.
- Priority needs include food, potable water, medicines, clothing, blankets, hygiene kits and plastic sheetings.
- The need for communication becomes more intense as the days go by. More affected persons are desperate to inform their relatives of their condition and their whereabouts. Likewise, relatives of affected population outside the affected areas want to know the means and ways to help.
- Flooding has subsided in most of the affected areas however, caution has been circulated again for possible flooding and landslide because of incoming tropical depression.
- Information on the extent of damages and actual number of casualties remains limited because some areas remain inaccessible due to broken bridges and road, fallen debris and uprooted trees. Power lines remain cut off in 7 regions while communication lines remain down in 3 regions.
- Search and rescue operation is also ongoing. More and more casualties were reported per province however, consolidated figure is not yet available.

- Some IDPs have already returned to their residences hours after the super typhoon passed. However, IDPs whose dwellings were along the coastline have not yet been permitted to return. There are those who stayed at their partially damaged dwellings and put up makeshift shelters out of salvaged materials.
- Government has been constantly monitoring prices of basic commodities in affected areas and issues on hoarding and overpricing. Warning has been released to those who will take advantage of the situation.
- Damage and need assessment among local government units and humanitarian actors is ongoing however, there are still isolated areas that have not been reached yet. Delivery of humanitarian assistance in isolated areas remains a challenge. Reports state that there are areas wherein 90-95% of building and houses were damaged.
- Basic services facilities including hospitals and airports were severely devastated. Primary crisis responders are also affected hence; immediate respond to IDPs is hampered.

Women and children are particularly at risk in the nights. Authorities report that restoration may take up to three weeks. Communications lines remain down in Regions VI, VII, VIII and XIII. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Electricity has been restored in Camiguin, Dumaguete City, Laguna, Negros Oriental, Quezon, Rizal and Siquijor. Retrieval and consolidation of cadavers is ongoing. Private sector and international non-government agencies have established communications platform in the form of online person finder to assist affected residents trace their missing relatives.
Physical safety
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Uprooted trees, broken glasses, damaged dwellings and other remains of the typhoon pose physical risk to IDPs. Debris cleaning is needed to ensure the safety of IDPs who are now returning. IDPs whose houses were located along the coastline remain at risk of further flooding. Reports state that Pacific Ocean is still active and a new tropical depression is underway. Some of the IDPs prefer to stay at their partially damaged houses rather than in evacuation centers. Others have put up makeshift tents out of salvaged materials in their places of origin. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Complete survey of the extent of the damage has yet to be done.
Protection of women and children
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Women and children were reported traumatized. Urgent stress debriefing is needed to protect them. Around 1.7 million children were affected. Children and women have started to openly beg along the streets for donations. Physical security of these children are at risk.
Protection of civilian properties
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Wide spread looting is reported with a breakdown of law and order. IDPs are reportedly taking turns in looting commercial establishments to get food, water and even toys. No violence has been reported yet because of this issue. In Southern Leyte, affected residents reportedly destroyed Automatic Teller Machines. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The government has augmented security personnel in severely hit areas and where organized looting is taking place. PNP has established hotline numbers to address IDP concerns on peace and security.
Access to basic services and humanitarian assistance
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> IDPs especially those in isolated areas urgently need food, clean water, medications, clothing and plastic sheeting. Hospitals in Tacloban, one of the severely hit areas, face medicine shortage. Fuel shortage reported in Iloilo City. More local government units outside Tacloban City are clamoring for humanitarian assistance. Assistance to isolated areas is difficult.
